Raider Coaching Staff

Pat Davis

Head Coach Twelfth Year (157-118)

Pat Davis begins her twelfth year as the head coach of the women's basketball team. Davis began her career at Wright State University in 1976 as softball coach, a position she held through the 1983 season. Later in 1976, basketball duties were added and she became the second women's basketball coach in Wright State's history. Davis coached the basketball and softball teams on a part-time basis before signing on full time at the start of the 1978-79 season.

After enduring two losing marks and a .500 year in her first three seasons, Davis reeled off winning records in seven of the last eight seasons. Included in that time span is a 75-38 ledger over the past four years. Davis guided last season's squad to its first NCAA tournament with a record-setting 24-6 mark. Davis was endowed with Great Lakes Region Coach-of-the-Year honors following her most productive season ever.

Not only has Davis coached some fine teams over the years, she has produced some outstanding individuals as well. The Davis system has yielded a trio of All-Americans, including assistant coach Janet Emerson. Jodi Martin gained first-team Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women All-America honors in 1982. Jenny Horn received Division II honorable mention status during the 1984-85 season and earned honors again the following year by Fast Break magazine. Emerson garnered second-team honors by Fast Break in 1987.

Coach Davis received her Bachelor of Arts degree in physical education from Ohio Wesleyan University and completed her master's degree in education at Xavier University. Ohio Wesleyan honored her in the fall of 1978 by naming her to the university's Athletic Hall of Fame. Davis was enshrined in the hall for her many accomplishments, including 16 varsity letters earned on the athletic fields of Ohio Wesleyan.

Marvin Gross

Assistant Coach Second Year

Marvin Gross begins his second year as the assistant women's basketball coach at Wright State. In his first year, he helped guide the Raiders to their best season ever. His responsibilities off the court include counseling, academic advising, and recruiting. Gross is also involved in counseling programs with other Wright State athletic teams. In the spring, his duties turn to the tennis court as head coach of the Raider men's team.

Gross spent a year as a graduate assistant coach for the women's basketball program at West Georgia College in Carrollton, Georgia, before returning to his alma mater, Wright State. While at West Georgia, Gross completed work toward a master's degree in psychology with an emphasis in sports psychology. Gross was also a full-time manager of the Racquet and Fitness Club of Carrollton and a teacher. While teaching health and physical education at Oneida Baptist Institute of Oneida, Kentucky, he coached the boys' varsity basketball team. Gross has also worked in group counseling situations with juvenile delinquents at Oesterlen Services for Youth in Springfield, Ohio. A resident of Bellbrook, Gross earned his Bachelor of Science degree in rehabilitation counseling from Wright State in 1983.

Janet Emerson

Student Assistant First Year

Janet Emerson will transform from player to coach this season. A 1987 second-team All-America selection by Fast Break magazine, Emerson led the Raiders to a 24-6 record-setting season and a first NCAA tournament bid. Joining the team as a walk-on, Emerson saw limited action until her senior year, when she wreaked havoc on the record books. She has played the most games and minutes in a single season of any Raider and also holds the mark for the most free throws made (105) and most free throws attempted (134). Despite limited playing time her first three years, Emerson's name is listed in the Top 10 of 12 individual career records.

Emerson, a resident of Beavercreek, plans to graduate from Wright State in June with a Bachelor of Science degree in human factors psychology.

Scouting Report

Raiders vs. Lady Bearcats

The Game: Tonight's game begins a seven-game home stretch for Wright State which includes four games in eight days in January. Wright State and Cincinnati have been idle for a week. The Raiders (3-6) are coming off a loss to Louisville on Monday, Dec. 21. Cincinnati took a (4-3) record into a Tuesday, Dec. 22 contest with Northern Illinois. The Lady Bearcats continue their best season since 1985-86, while the Raiders are experiencing their worst start since the 1977-78 season.

The Raiders: Wright State is on a three-game losing streak after dropping close-knit decisions to Indiana State, 63-58, and Eastern Michigan, 64-62. The Lady Cards of Louisville rolled to a 78-60 decision over the Raiders in Wright State's final game before a week of rest. Senior forward Tammy Stover continues to pace the Raiders from the field, averaging 15.5 points per game. Nettie Carter is the only other Raider averaging double-figure scoring with 12.2 points per contest. She returned to action for the first time in five games after recovering from a foot injury. The Raiders are outscoring their opponents by only 3.6 points per game.

The Lady Bearcats: Cincinnati has returned to winning ways after a 6-22 ledger a year ago. This year, Cincinnati has recorded four wins and dropped three decisions, all to teams ranked in the Top 20, a much better start than last year when they opened the season with ten straight losses. If Cincinnati defeats Northern Illinois, it will be the first time since March of 1986 that the Lady Bearcats have won three consecutive ball games. The Lady Bearcats' second leading scorer, Trinette Wright, has been nursing a sprained shoulder and is unlikely to see starting action in tonight's contest. Junior center Bev Obringer tallied an impressive 40 points in Cincinnati's 68-46 win over Miami.

The Series: Cincinnati has a 6-0 advantage in the all-time series. The last meeting was in 1981 when the Raiders dropped an 87-79 decision to the Lady Bearcats in Cincinnati.

The Next Game: The homestand continues for the Raiders as they host Grand Valley State, the only Division II remnant on the schedule, on Wednesday, Dec. 30 at 7 p.m.

Profile

Confidence Is Moffitt's Middle Name

“Coach (Pat Davis) expects me to do the best I can so I’m not worried about following in someone else’s foot steps,” said Moffitt. “The only pressure I feel is the pressure I put on myself. I don’t even think about following someone else.”

Moffitt's confidence is not limited to her own play. She is confident with the move to Division I.

"A lot of people don't know what to expect and aren't sure how we'll do in Division I," said Moffitt. "I'd like to show them that we are competitive at the higher level. I know and the team knows we are good enough to be Division I, I'd just like to show everyone else that we are. I feel that we are as good as the teams that have been there (Division I) for awhile."

Although she is confident in herself, Moffitt has not set any personal goals for herself. She is more concerned with taking one step at a time and helping her team to a victory.

"I want to take every game and play my hardest and whatever comes will come."

Although she has not set specific goals, Moffitt is aware of the two statistical categories which will tell the story of her improvement—fouls and assists. Although she was a non-starter last year, she tied for the team lead in fouls with 79. She also dished out only eight assists.

"Everyone has something to work on and I'm no different. I want to increase my assists and not foul as quickly."

“When I first started playing (basketball) I did it because every one else was,” said Moffitt. “It was the ‘in’ thing to do. Then through my high school coach I saw that I was doing really well. I thought it could take me somewhere so I stuck with it and got a free education.”

Moffitt gained a free education by sticking with basketball, and the Wright State Raiders gained a team player who is confident in her play.

Confidence has never been a problem for Wright State's Shawna Moffitt. Although this is the first year for her in the starting center spot for the Raiders, the 6-1 sophomore is confident that her experience from last season will help her make a smooth transition.

"There isn't much of a difference (between starting and not) because I got a lot of playing time last year," said Moffitt. "I have to make sure I cut down on fouls because they (the Raiders) need me in there a little longer. Really it doesn't matter if you start or come in (off the bench), you have to make sure you're ready because the team is depending on you."

The Raiders have certainly counted on Moffitt in the early portion of the season, as she has started each game and averaged more than 26 minutes of playing time per contest. She is fourth on the team in scoring with a 7.9 average and third in rebounding at 5.6.

Of course, it helps that Moffitt is building off a successful freshman year. Last season, she was the backup center to Lois Warburg, a four-year starter and the third all-time leading scorer. Anyone else may have been wary of following Warburg's reputation, but not Moffitt. She doesn't even think about it. She just does the best she can.
